HOW WILTZ GOT 16 000 MAJORITY

The telegraph brought news on Thursday that Wiltz, democratic candidate for secretary of state in Louisiana, had been elected by a majority of 16 000 votes His opponent was J. D. Kennedy, who wrote a letter to a friend during the canvass telling what freedom of speech and the ballot means in Louisiana Mr Kennedy was at the town of Waterproof where he had gone to address the people and writes as follows

Mr Bobe and myself in deference to the wishes of the large number of colored people present, many of whom had come over 20 miles to hear us, decided to hold a meeting at any rate, although we had every reason to believe an attempt would be made to prevent it. A large number of white men were present and I saw by the repeated consultations they meant business. As soon as Mr Bobe attempted to speak he was interrupted by several white men They hurrahed for [illegible], jeered and hissed when Judge Beat[illegible] was called, and said they were determined to break up any republican meeting in that section of their parish—that the whites and blacks were satisfied with the present condition of affairs—that they were tired of this thing and propose hereafter to manage matters to suit themselves. I came forward and made an appeal to Mr [illegible], who, I believe is the mayor of the town, and who was very violent in his denunciation of white republicans, to allow me to speak. I told him I was a native of [illegible], a candidate on the ticket and I desired a hearing as a colored man who had listened up to this time the praises of the democratic journals for his conservative [illegible] wherever he had spoken He would [illegible] me there. I offered to divide time with him, and have a joint discussion He declined that He then invited me over to his store, where he said "we can talk" I went over with him followed by a crowd of whites and blacks There I was given to understand that while it was not their purpose to harm a single hair in the head of a colored man, it was their determination to maintain democratic government in this state * * * [illegible] know I have been heretofore [illegible] conservative in my opinions, so much so as to have my motives impugned [illegible] by many warm personal and political friends But when the white men of Waterproof and the surrounding country [illegible] a Jew and a Pennsylvania carpet[illegible] at that to guide and direct them in their crusade against free speech and fair play, I think it is time for me to halt and ask [illegible] whether my appeals to the sense of justice which ought to characterize an intelligent people, have not been in vain. [illegible] did the Jew free himself from proscription and prejudice? How long has it been since his race has had the right to disturb [illegible] labor by mere prejudice on account of color or of political faith? * * * [illegible] this act, although no personal violence was offered, an outrage that gives the lie to the fair promises of protection and freedom of speech made and guaranteed by Mr Wiltz and his followers to the colored people of the state When will the democratic party learn wisdom from experience? I venture the prediction that the action of the whites at Waterproof will [illegible] and make restive in a more marked degree the labor of that section In their eagerness and haste to get at the "rat[illegible]" of the public treasury they are losing sight of the things that tend to develop and advance the material interests of the state; [illegible] labor is agitated The treasury is [illegible] Their credit is at stake but it makes little difference to them Honors are reserved for those who break up republican meetings—for I have no doubt Mr Yame will be reappointed mayor for his devotion [illegible] in the "great crisis at Waterproof." This little "affair" does not deter me in the least, however for I shall go forward [illegible] whether this spirit of intolerance exists in other sections of our state Yours for the right.

SCIENTIFIC EXPLORATIONS

In the John Day Country—Report of Operations by a Party in the Field

SILVER WELLS, Nov 27 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

I noticed in a recent issue of THE OREGONIAN that mention was made of Prof E D Cope's exploring party in the John Day region. One would infer that the object of the expedition was the collection of curiosities for an ordinary curiosity sh[illegible] [illegible] to state that the expedition has been engaged for two years past in making an extensive collection of miocene vertebrate fossils which will give a good representation of the animal life that existed in this country during that period The results of our labor will soon be published in Prof Cope's final report on the Hayden Survey of which he was the efficient pal[illegible] The specimens are shipped to [illegible] museum, located in the [illegible] building, Philadelphia Several [illegible] have already been [illegible] many new and [illegible] exceptionally rare [illegible] discovered [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] rights that a Nation should [illegible] respect

The value of hog and hominy as brain food is beautifully illustrated in southern politics

Thurman the man who tried to become president by jumping down his own throat—ta ta!

A Nation that cannot or will not protect its citizens ought not to call on its citizens to protect it

Southern institutions—shotguns bowie knives whisky State lines stat constitutions state sovereignty

A southern statesman combines all the stunning stupidities of a harlequin with the remorseless brutality of a Thug

The Nation is greater than any state—greater than any constitution Congress is the will of the Nation and is omnipotent

The reconstruction measures were only a reprieve and not a pardon to traitors It expires March 4 1881 when Grant comes in

The constitution is the creature of the Nation—a mere instrument to be modified ignored or thrown away where it hampers the National will

Grant will place the Indian savages and the southern barbarians in charge of the war department March 4, 1881 Quakers and conciliators to the rear

Might is right now and evermore The north is now and always will be mightier than the south therefore the north is now and will evermore be right

The stalwart victory in New York and Pennsylvania insures the reduction of rebeldom to a military province and the wholesome discipline of martial law

Ben Hill, the brilliant Georgia blower has discovered that the north hates the south As the south is a synonym for barbarism Ben is to be congratulated for his shrewdness

It is the duty of the Nation to protect its citizens at home as well as abroad It may and should if necessary enter Mississippi or New York to discharge this primary duty

A southerner looks at the past curses, takes a drink of whisky and shoots a nigger a northerner looks at the future, whistles, takes off his coat and invents a new labor saving machine.

If you can calculate the difference between the nature and uses of a shotgun and locomotive you can tell the exact difference between a southern savage and a northern mudsill!

With the reduction of the southern barbarians to order and their elimination from local and general politics Columbia will be the most progressive wealthiest and powerful Nation of the globe

If state lines interfere with National progress,

Cancel them

If state constitutions hamper the National purpose

Abrogate them

If state sovereignty conflicts with National sovereignty

Squelch it

Okolona

[Okolona (Miss.) Southern States (Dem)]

Old Mississippi declared by a muscular majority on the 4th inst that the union is not a nation with a cap N and this disposes of the question as far as she is concerned

If the central sts want to see the bloodiest and most unrelenting war of ancient or modern times they will proceed with their purpose of forcing a king upon the American people

State sovereignty versus centralism will be the only vital issue before the American people in 1880 State sovereignty means peace prosperity and freedom Centralism means war want and slavery

One indiscreet fool south can in a minute undo the lengthy labor of a statesman.—Wade Hampton

This is a cold and clammy fact

It would therefore be well for the old confederacy if the friends of Wade Hampton could persuade him to forever hold his tongue

The United States of the south have 138 electoral votes New York and Indiana the northern wings of the solid south have fifty electoral votes 138x50 equal 188 It takes only 185 to elect so the democratic candidate for president will have three majority in the electoral college That's just the size of it boys!

NEWS NOTES FROM SEATTLE

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN]

SEATTLE Dec 3

A meeting will be held here on Saturday evening next for the purposing of furthering the Skagit river trail project

The construction of a new wharf near the railroad incline will soon be commenced for Col Squire It is understood that he contemplates the establishment of an excelsior factory there

Mr N Bolton of this city has the contract for the construction of Taylor's new steamer at Tacoma Mr Cooper also of this city has contracted to build the boilers while Mr Lester of Tacoma will do the machine work

The sad intelligence reached here Monday of the death in San Francisco on the 1st inst of Mr Fred Young of the firm of Boyd, Poncin & Young dry goods merchants of this city Mr Young left here one week ago for California for his health, which had been failing for some time

Col W C Squire of New York, who has large property interests in this city and county and who spent a few months here last summer is making an effort it is authoritatively stated to place the bonds of the S & W W railroad on the New York market Should he be successful we will have a little boom of our own here by another season

The first shipment of 40 tons of coal from the Cumberland coal company's mine on the Skagit river will be made to this city next week The mine we are informed by Mr J J Conner the superintendent and principal owner consists of a vein of rich bituminous coal pitching into a mountain at an angle of 60° and with an average width of six feet It has been traced a mile and a half along the side of the mountain from where the first croppings are found It is located 9 miles up the river and little over half a mile back from the bank A wagon road has been constructed from the river back over a gradual rise one half mile From here a tramway has been built up a sharp declivity 900 feet to the mouth of a tunnel driven into the vein one hundred feet on a level This makes the sixth coal mine already opened or expected soon to be opened in western Washington They are as follows The Newcastle, Renton Talbot Seattle Cedar river Cumberland and Carbon river The two latter contain bituminous and semi-bituminous coals while all of the former contain only lignite generally of a superior quality for steam purposes From this it would appear that western Washington will control the entire coal business of the coast It is claimed that as soon as the Carbon river and Cumberland mines are opened they will crowd the product of the [illegible] mines from the California market [illegible] mines will be [illegible] the same quality and [illegible] However [illegible] mainly most prosperous

PORTLAND Dec 4 1879

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Almost an age ago the public were assured that the universe was to be enlightened in a particular branch of legal erudition by the publication of a work, the intelligent dissertations of which were to [illegible] the [illegible] problems that now baffle [illegible] of our lawyers [illegible] of minds could [illegible]

B H HALLOCK

CAPT JAMES B EADS

His Success in his Work at the Jetties of the Mississippi—His Proposed Visit to Oregon, etc

[illegible] Capt James B Eads [illegible] who were at [illegible]

I take a [illegible] of our favor [illegible] a lifetime hemi [illegible] plans for improving the [illegible] of the Mississippi and the [illegible] determined opposition of the engineer corps, [illegible] So sanguine was Mr Eads of success that he proposed to congress to do the work of building the jetties at his own expense [illegible] that he would [illegible] government until [illegible] of success [illegible]

The [illegible] material [illegible] can only be understood by referring to the character of the Delta of the Mississippi In 1874 the New Orleans Chamber of Commerce appointed a committee [illegible] with Mr Eads and their report stated that obstructions had become so great that [illegible] vessels on the bars waiting to [illegible] and a large number anxiously waiting to get out During the war as every one is aware no attention was paid to the commerce that now finds its outlet at the mouth of the river The average depth of the South Pass which Capt Eads proposed to improve was only ten feet with a constantly shifting base Another difficulty was the amount of sediment two cubic inches in every cubic foot in the water [illegible] daunted by these obstacles the work was undertaken in May 1875 congress having passed the act to repay the contractor in money and $250 000 every quarter that a minimum depth of 30 feet was maintained The success of the work can be no better [illegible] than by quoting the language of President Hayes in his late message Speaking of the jetties he says "The channel through the South Pass which at the beginning of June 1875 had a depth of only seven and one half feet had on the 8th of July 1879 a minimum depth of twenty six feet having a width of 200 feet and a central depth of thirty feet

During the past three months the depth [illegible] in the president's message has been maintained with the exception of twenty [illegible]

Capt Eads' method of constructing jetties is by driving two rows of piles parallel to each other between which he desires to drive the force of the water Then he constructs incline ways to these piles on which he builds the matresses or framework These matresses are structures of timbers bolted and nailed together then towed to their place and then loaded with rock till they sink The base matress is usually from forty to fifty feet wide and the upper ones grow narrower and narrower to the surface of the water where they average twenty five The material used is principally willows which are pliable and easily twisted After constructing the main jetties wings are projected from either side in the same manner, so as to still further confine the current of the stream and make nature do its own work

Capt Eads comes to this coast to look at the mouth of the Columbia While it is not probable that the government will undertake the construction of any more jetties in the near future should Mr Eads after a survey of the Columbia find jetties feasible the difficulties to be overcome here will be as nothing compared with those which he encountered at the mouth of the Mississippi Whether or not the Columbia bar can be improved by this method it is certain that the mouth of the Willamette can be made to scour itself by confining the channel

Capt Eads has been invited to visit Egypt by the khedive to improve the delta of the Nile which is not dissimilar to that of the Mississippi

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your criticism on Prof Bowen's remarkable article in the North American Review published in the OREGONIAN of the 20th of November is clear and to the point so far as it goes and ought to be admitted by readers of the article in question, unless the bias theological or otherwise is so strong as to prevent a fair operation of the judgment Prof Bowen may be admitted to have proven from his statistics and data that the most highly cultivated people soon run out and are replaced by those of a lower origin but this does not prove that they are the fittest to survive as you have shown The writer apparently overlooks or ignores the fact that these highly cultivated people who do not themselves survive or leave posterity may by contact be constantly elevating the intellectual if not the moral standard of their less improved fellow men thus making the average man or man from the average intellectual class the fittest to survive render it so by the improvement he has derived from and at the expense of the posterity of his superior Is not evolution by this means slowly but constantly improving the human race A point which may be sustained in opposition to the arguments of the professor is that although the poor and wretched do undoubtedly multiply very rapidly in so far as the number of births is concerned will not statistics also show that the mortality among the children of this class is very nearly if not quite sufficient to more than counterbalance relatively the difference in the number of births between them and the middle or average class which he seems to have shown it elf to be the fittest to survive?

Mr Buckle in his "History of Civilization" shows pretty conclusively that the over population of Ireland was directly induced by the cultivation of the potato and that the failure of this crop was the immediate cause of a famine from which large numbers of the peasantry died of actual starvation

There is an apparent inconsistency to be inferred from Prof Bowen's reasoning wherein he believes the most highly cultivated are the fittest to survive for he also states that this very class to a large extent atheists [illegible] conditions in the strongest terms [illegible] culture may lead to [illegible] of mind Men of the highest attainments and most profound research in other directions are usually admitted to be the best authority and who is to decide that these men may not be taken as good authority in their particular and special lines of investigation?

The impression which the article in the [illegible] would leave [illegible] that Darwin and other eminent scientific men [illegible] have made a personal attack [illegible] religion and [illegible] virtue and morality [illegible]

EUROPEAN TROUBLES

[illegible] perhaps the most manifest [illegible] of [illegible] England [illegible] a [illegible] well [illegible] not ignored by the [illegible] each country of large [illegible] Then [illegible] her majesty the queen [illegible] Britain shall [illegible] she [illegible] which [illegible] about the same that her ministers would say of the condition of affairs in Ireland [illegible] the part of the English government ultimately to [illegible] press most effectually any [illegible] may take place in the [illegible] all [illegible] from the precautionary steps that have been [illegible] rapidly taken there is every reason [illegible] believe that England regards the present danger as of a serious character. Whenever a country contains as large a class of malcontents as Great Britain does it requires the greatest possible display of political tact to keep it in subjection and the progress of events makes the task of England in the government of Ireland more and more difficult every year. The Irish people have long fostered the desire to assume a more independent position and in almost every community there is a majority of the people who cherish a spirit of disloyalty not particularly to the government but to the form and manner of its administration. They have long since despaired of a correction of the evils of which they complain until they are given a more extended voice in the framing and execution of the laws. The basis of the bad feeling entertained toward England lies in the fact that Irishmen are not permitted to govern Ireland and from a democratic standpoint Americans will say they are right. Home rule in its most radical sense does not mean in Ireland absolute independence of English government as much as it does equality of the Irish with the English in all that pertains to the government of Great Britain and especially as far as the operations of that government in Ireland are concerned. With the examples of the world before her Ireland will not be pacified nor conciliated until this equal political standing is attained. England may send food and aid to the tenantry suffering from want, but those people will not forget that the system of feudalism and monopoly of the resources of the country, including the ownership of the soil, which has been fostered by the English government, brought this distress upon them and they will not be reconciled to kiss the hand that has smitten them even though that hand comes bearing food and money. It will require more than a ship load or two of provisions to quell the disturbances which are now threatening to break out into open rebellion.

While the events in Ireland are brought more prominently before the world those which come to light in Russia show that in that empire there is a widespread and dangerous spirit of hatred of the ruling powers. Again and again and again within a few months some humble individual, urged by real or imaginary wrongs, has attempted to assassinate the czar. All through the kingdom organizations exist secret in character but extending to all classes from the middle orders down, embracing as adherents many of the wealthy and influential and nearly all the poorer people. These societies, socialistic, communistic or nihilistic in their nature, are all in a bitter antagonism to the government, and as a large proportion of this disloyal class is made up of those who were formerly in a condition of serfdom it is highly probable that they are under control of leaders who can use them as only ignorant men can be used. So far has this feeling against the czar and the nobility extended that there is but little safety now for the lives of those who are regarded as the oppressors more than the rightful rulers of the people, except in strong body guards and fortified castles. The whole fabric of the Russian government is threatened by this danger and her long continued system of making aggressive foreign wars will have to be abandoned, her troops called home and pitted against an outraged peasantry, or the fire in the rear will destroy what Turkey on the Bosphorus nor England on the Crimea could defeat. Truly both England and Russia just now are having enough to attend to at home and neither can have much desire to engage in any outside quarrels.

OUR RIVER FRONT AGAIN

As evidence of the fact that we have not overestimated the extent of the claim of the owners of the Stark street ferry to control the foot of all streets in the city which abut upon the river as landing places for their ferry boat, nor the magnitude of such claim if sustained in its effects upon the property rights of those immediately concerned as well as upon the entire commercial interests and prosperity of the city at large, we publish the following portion of their amended answer in the case of Price et al vs Knott Bros referred to in our previous editorial on this subject.

And for a further and separate defense to plaintiffs' complaint, defendants allege that the legislature of the territory of Oregon by an act entitled An act to authorize James B. Stephens to establish a horse or steamboat ferry across the Willamette river, passed January 17 1852, conferred upon said James B Stephens his heirs and assigns a perpetual franchise, right and license to establish and run a ferry across the Willamette river within the limits extending one mile each way up and down said river from Stark street in said city of Portland and to land his ferry boats and deposit his freight and passengers on either shore of said river at any place within said limits. That said foot of Oak street is within the said limits and the said act confers upon the said James B Stephens his heirs and assigns a perpetual right to use the same as a landing for his ferry boats and to deposit his freight and passengers in and upon the same and to so grade the said street between Front street and said City of Portland and low water mark in said river as to render the same a convenient passage way for passengers and vehicles between his said ferry boat and landings and the said Front street.

It is therefore manifest that the effect of the decree in the case referred to is to establish the right of the ferry owners to the use not only of Oak street, but of any and all streets in the city where they abut upon the river within the limits of one mile either way from Stark street, as landing places for their ferry boats, and as none of the streets now used as roadways to our numerous wharves can be made available both for that purpose and as ferry landings, the result of said judgment, if sustained, will be to place each wharf owner at the mercy of the ferry owners as to the continuance of such roadways and the use of the wharves.

Henry [illegible] Knapp a civil engineer of New York pro[illegible] es the [illegible] the mouth of the Mississippi a gigantic engineer[illegible] the result a [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] damming up the [illegible] the river and its branches which would be [illegible] followed by the [illegible] bottoms and [illegible] the [illegible] the gulf before the [illegible] [illegible] Others [illegible] correct. He [illegible] that navigation of the Mississippi and of the Ohio was never so bad as during the past season and quotes a telegram from a Louisiana congressman to the secretary of war for financial aid to assist in getting the steamers down the river saying the navigation between New Orleans and Vicksburg was suspended, steamboats compelled to employ barges and trans[illegible] worse above Vicksburg. The views of Mr Knapp do not take into consideration the fact of unusually low water for two seasons which would naturally shoal the sands, but still the [illegible] will have to work well [illegible] [illegible] government will expend [illegible] [illegible] obstruct any others.

There is [illegible] a strong local democracy [illegible] democratic wheel horse [illegible] has been moved from the po[illegible] [illegible] Kelly [illegible] to assume that the duties of the po[illegible] as well discharged by Mr [illegible] who [illegible] correspondence to the [illegible] however seems [illegible] rights of the democracy in [illegible] remember that the [illegible] have long [illegible] matters that to other [illegible] All [illegible] when the authority [illegible] power [illegible] Mr Kelly. We prefer [illegible] in your place we don't see [illegible] as a friend of the deposed could [illegible] wh[illegible] to hang an argument.

It seems that the Utes are [illegible] more freely and evincing a disposition to testify according to the dispatch from Washington, but that from Wyoming says they have stolen all the cattle on which the troops were dependent for meat. The peace commission sent to the Utes, we are still [illegible] will prove about as fruitless but we hope not so fatal as the Modoc [illegible]. The most effective peace commissions [illegible] the Indians this country has had have been regiments of well equipped and well officered soldiers. As long, however, as the administration deals with the Indian question on the presumption that the red man is an ill used and long suffering being we may expect these humbug commissions to be sent out to the Indian country to palaver with red handed murderers at the expense of the people and to the disgust of practical men.

From the tenor of late advices from Maine it appears that there was good ground for the republicans to fear that the governor and his council would "count out" enough of the republican members elect to the legislature to give the opposition a majority. The courts, however, are likely to be called upon to decide the points in dispute, which perhaps is the best plan, for although the constitution of Maine, like that of most other states, provides that each legislative house shall be the sole judge of the qualification of its members, it is very probable that if the democratic members obtain certificates from the governor and get the upper hand in the organization of the two houses it will not unhand its grip upon the state by unseating members of its own household of party faith out of mere deference to considerations of equity and justice.

Cincinnati does not concede the national republican convention to Chicago but says it should be held at the center of the nation, which is Cincinnati. The Chicago Tribune objects to Cincinnati because at the convention of 1876 the heat ranged in the nineties, while in June Chicago enjoys "clear skies and cooling breezes," and the Cincinnati Gazette denounces this view as climatic sectionalism of the worst sort. The real trouble with Cincinnati is not the climate but the "Ohio man," who is a terror to other aspirants for the nomination.

The dispatches almost every day for some time past have contained accounts of gold shipments of less or greater amounts to this country. These shipments bid fair to increase the currency of the country to an extent beyond the requirements of business. The jealous coffers which have so long locked up the world's gold are at length opened and the yellow stream pours forth abundantly with its revivifying influences into every channel of trade.

Senator Edmunds of Vermont, who recently returned from a European tour, says: "I suppose I entertained the same views about Europe that are held by most Americans. While I found there a great deal to admire and enjoy I believe there is no country as good as ours. The condition of the poorer classes of the industrial and agricultural workmen in Europe is certainly infinitely worse than that of ours."

The Rural Spirit of this city, which by the way is an excellent journal for the stock raiser or agriculturist, is informed that during the past season the fact has been demonstrated that flour arrives in England in better condition, comparatively speaking, than wheat, and in view of this an association has been formed here that will erect a flouring mill in this city at a cost of at least $100,000.

Lee and Shephard, Boston, are issuing a uniform series of illustrated hymns and poems, the last volume received by us being that familiar and stirring gem "The Breaking Waves Dashed High," by Mrs Hemans. The poem everybody knows, but the mechanical work on the book is superb. It is equal in beauty to its excellent predecessors. Price $1 50 in cloth and gold.

SO PREVALENT AND SO FATAL HAS CONSUMPTION become that it is now everywhere dreaded as the scourge of humanity, and yet in their formative stages all Pulmonary Complaints may be readily relieved and controlled by resorting promptly to Dr Jayne's Expectorant, a curative specially adapted to soothe and strengthen the Bronchial tubes, allay inflammation and loosen and remove all obstructions. It is a certain remedy for Asthma and also for Coughs and Colds. Sold by Hodge Davis & Co Portland Oregon

LINES DOWN

Owing to the storm south of Roseburg which prostrated the telegraph lines we are without our usual dispatches

CITY.

NEW FLOURING MILL —The [illegible] is informed that a company has been formed here that will build a flouring mill on the river front in the southern portion of the city next season The mill will cost about $1 [illegible] J F Isaacs of Walla Walla a gentleman of much milling experience and who has been manufacturing flour by the new process for some time at Walla Walla left on the last steamer for the east whither he goes to procure the machinery for the new mill The company will manufacture flour under the new process, which adds materially to its value This is one of the most worthy movements that has been inaugurated for many years, and there is no doubt that as soon as the company succeeds in the establishment of the mill, they will become the owners of vessels to do the carrying in place of paying freights to foreign bottoms

ANOTHER ATTEMPT AT ARSON —Another attempt was made late Thursday night to burn the Hanmates block a duplicate of the effort made Monday night and this time again in Dr Murray s rooms The plastering had been torn away in the dining room and there was a slight blaze near the floor where the fire was discovered It was speedily extinguished with a few buckets of water The attempt was evidently the work of a bungling novice and not that of a thoroughbred There is no clue whatever to the incendiary or to the motive which prompted the deed The Portland Board of Underwriters held a meeting yesterday afternoon at the office of F J Caldwell and resolved to offer a reward of $500 for the arrest and conviction of any person found guilty of arson in firing any building in this city

INJURY AT THE CASCADE LOCKS —A few days ago J H Hall a laborer at the Cascade Locks, was preparing a charge of giant powder, and was standing on the rock to be blasted when the charge exploded prematurely His arms, breast and face were terribly lacerated and it is thought his eyesight is destroyed He was conveyed to this city and taken to St. Vincent s hospital where he receives the best attention and most careful nursing Hall bears his intense pains with the grit and fortitude of a soldier and says if his eyesight is not gone he will be back to work before the end of the month

ACCIDENT TO THE CHAMPION —The steamer Champion of the O S N Co s line left yesterday morning for Corvallis When she had proceeded about five miles up the river her port pitman strap gave way and the port cylinder heads were blown out Fortunately no one was injured She tied up at the bank and the Willamette Chief was dispatched without delay to take her freight and passengers and make the trip The Champion was towed to the boneyard for repairs which will cost [illegible] $400.

PLEASANT SOCIAL — The North Portland Mission Sunday school held a social at their new chapel last evening the attendance being fully equal to the capacity of the room It was a complete success socially and resulted in raising a goodly sum to be applied to the Sunday school. This mission is now in a prosperous condition having a neat and commodious chapel free from debt and a large and flourishing school

PORT ASTORIA —Specials to Merchants' Exchange: Dec 4—4 P M —The Fredrick arrived down this morning the Napier arrived [illegible] 5 30 P. M Dec 5 —Str State of California arrived at 8 30 A. M and left for Portland [illegible] A M ; str Oregon arrived down at [illegible] and crossed out at 3 P, M , Nor bark [illegible] arrived at 3 30 P. M 4 P M —Cloudy [illegible] northwest wind Br bark Abbey Town [illegible]

WASHOUT ON THE O AND C R R.—[illegible] about 100 yards of the track [illegible] Oregon & California railroad was washed out just above Cottage Grove, The train was delayed more than eight hours and did not arrive until long after [illegible]. It is expected the track would be repaired and the trains running without interruption to-day.

THE GOV. GROVER.—The steamer Gov Grover is lying at the boneyard and undergoing the work of dismantling Already a portion of her machinery has been removed and is being overhauled and put in [illegible] shipment to the upper Columbia in [illegible] to be put into a new light draught [illegible] built for the summer trade [illegible] DONATION.—It is learned that [illegible] packages of assorted fruits, vegetables, [illegible], preserves and clothing, to [illegible] the sum of $70 70, were forwarded [illegible] Samaritan Hospital and Orphanage [illegible] from St. Paul s Episcopal [illegible] and the people of Oregon City generally.

THE PRAYER MEETING —Noon-day prayer [illegible] are held daily at the new and beautifully furnished rooms of the Young Men's Christian Association, opposite the National [illegible], First street between Alder and [illegible] streets. Those who attend these [illegible] report them as deeply interesting

HEAVY WIND UP THE COLUMBIA —A dispatch to the O. S. N. Co. yesterday announces that there was a strong wind against the current in the Upper Columbia, so strong that [illegible] was prevented from making the [illegible] Ainsworth to Wallula

LETTER LIST.—The following letters remain [illegible] at the office of Wells, Fargo & Co: Charles E Allen, Col C D Bush, J [illegible], Chas C. Gibson, J Johnson, H C [illegible], Wilson M Legard, John R Wilson [illegible] Young.

[illegible] —Mr. John R Foster has leased [illegible] No. 168 First street recently vacated by D. W. Prentice & Co , and will open a [illegible] retail hardware establishment in that [illegible] in a few days

[illegible] —A man named Henry Jackson was kicked on the leg yesterday by a [illegible] horse, near the B street bridge, and the bone fractured He was conveyed to [illegible] and the injured limb dressed

BOARD OF TRADE —There will be a regular meeting of the Board of Trade at the rooms [illegible] Monday, Dec. 8th, at 8 o clock P M [illegible] meeting will be for the consideration of [illegible] business and correspondence.

DEDICATION. — The new Congregational church building in East Portland Holliday's addition, will be dedicated Dec 21st, Forefather's Day. Particulars next week

THE BOARD MEETING —Bethel services will be held on board the large British ship David [illegible] to-morrow at 2 P. M This vessel lies at [illegible] wharf foot of C street.

FOR SITKA —The steamer California will leave for Victoria and Sitka on the 11th inst at [illegible] o'clock P. M

ENTERTAINMENT AT THE ROOMS OF THE Y. M. C. A

Last evening a large audience gathered at the new hall of the Y M C A The programme was excellent, and the great variety of exercises kept up the interest to the last

A little delay at the opening was somewhat annoying but when the evening s entertainment began by music on the piano and violin [illegible]

This was followed by a male quartet composed of Messrs Prof Cook Best Staples and Graham [illegible] have [illegible] a more careful rendition [illegible] The [illegible] of these [illegible] great [illegible]

Dr Warren [illegible] interesting experiments in chemistry [illegible] always [illegible]

The phonograph was then introduced by Mr Wm [illegible] This [illegible] an immense [illegible] Crawford was the first [illegible] Prayer and [illegible] reproducing the sounds [illegible] that they [illegible] much merriment [illegible] Walthams Best [illegible] Williams [illegible] to catch the words of a familiar selection Another sheet was [illegible] Mrs [illegible] machine [illegible] with uproarious merriment [illegible] Dr Bird [illegible] excellent result from a hearty laugh

An ingenious musical instrument was then brought out by Dr Bird He gives it the unique name of [illegible] A set of goblets properly tuned and played upon in various ways The doctor and his wife gave some most wonderful exhibitions of a musical character on these tiny goblets They were vociferously encored and responded with several beautiful selections

Miss Lutie Wakefield recited the Polish Boy in excellent taste

Prof Henderson then appeared in a full English barrister's costume and gave the celebrated plea in the case of Bardell vs Pickwick The professor never does things by halves and fully sustained his reputation on this occasion

Another well rendered vocal quartet by those gentlemen already mentioned was given

We can compliment Prof Cook and his fellow musicians on the sweet harmony and full blending of their voices

Ice cream and a short sociable followed

Dr. Bird has the unstinted thanks of the friends of the Y M C A for his untiring efforts to forward the interests of the association and we hope to chronicle a handsome balance as the result of this entertainment.

LOG OF H M S PINAFORE.

Her majesty s ship Pinafore, more familiarly known as Our Saucy Ship s a Beauty sailed hence on the 13th ult with a full — tolerably full—crew at an eight knot breeze and all sails set Distress signals were hoisted at Walla Walla and the ship hove to, and dropped anchor at that port After the crew had made 8 miles and 19 laps, and were in long itude about $620 they struck a calm and soon were in a short itude of $1 11

After experiencing successions of fierce squalls and dead calms for the space of eleven days and nights they were forced to square sails for home port They sprung a leak on paying their fare coming down the river, and put into The Dalles for repairs They repaired Portland-ward in less than [illegible] the residents of Wasco county having threatened to board the ship and scuttle her on account of an insult offered to Miss Pocahontas by Dr Alcantara The doctor pacified the blood thirsty multitude however, by setting up gin and sugar On the passage from The Dalles hither the vessel met with severe head winds which carried away topsails washed the gally overboard stove in boats, crushed the bulwarks and hove the saucy ship on her beam ends She arrived here yesterday afternoon at twenty-three minutes and six seconds past three o clock in a dilapidated condition, the crew singing Sad is her lot who does not well

N B —We have been officially informed that the report spread by a lot of street gamins that the lady members of the crew were scudding under bare poles, is a democratic lie gotten up for political effect

The shipwrecked crew were kindly cared for by Messrs Zieber & Knowles of the Clarendon It s an ill-wind that don t blow nobody no good

ANNUAL MEETING OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH

The First Congregational church of Portland held its annual meeting Thursday night From the reports of the pastor and Sunday school superintendent we glean the following facts

During the year 1879 there have been added to the church [illegible] persons 36 on profession of their faith and [illegible] by letter Twelve were dismissed to other churches and two Mrs A Taylor and Horace G Himes died The net gain for the year is [illegible] The present membership is [illegible]

The various meetings of the church have been well attended during the year A steady interest has been manifested in all departments of church work An actual count of the morning congregations on four successive Sundays of last month showed an average attendance of [illegible] The evening audiences [illegible] extra [illegible] reckoning those who attend [illegible] services and those [illegible] Sunday school this church [illegible] at least every Sabbath

The Sunday school has had a year of [illegible] The average attendance for the year was [illegible] an increase of ten over last year During August and September repairs in the vestry interfered greatly with the attendance The average attendance now is 18[illegible] A new Sunday school library costing $1[illegible] was added during the year

The Ladies [illegible] has reorganized with largely increased membership and is now working efficiently They give a fair next week which promises to be very successful

One of the marked and gratifying successes of the year has been the choir [illegible] organized and drilled by Prof Cook Last January this change was made as an experiment in the face of what seemed insurmountable difficulties and almost certain failure But the persistence [illegible] abilities as a leader and thorough knowledge of his profession on the part of Prof Cook and the perseverance hard work and enthusiasm of the members of the choir triumphed over all difficulties The experiment has long since passed into an assured success and the Congregational church now has one of the best choirs in the city

The Thursday night and Sunday night prayer meetings have been well sustained

The church began the year 1879 clear of debt for the first time in many years During the year the receipts have met all current expenses though these have been larger than heretofore The current expenses for the year $2800 All bills have been paid promptly The financial motto of the church is, Owe no man anything Provide things honest in the sight of men Extensive repairs on the vestry costing $[illegible] 00, was cheerfully met by special contributions In addition there has been over $[illegible]00 raised and expended during the year for missionary and charitable purposes

The year 1879 has been a successful one The church has had a steady sure substantial growth

I A Macrum was re-elected to the office of deacon for a term of five years H H Northup was confirmed as superintendent of the Sunday school for the year 1880 The election of both was made unanimous

THE GREAT NORTHWEST.

A copy of the Chelsea (Mass) Record of Nov 13th has been received at this office from which the following extract is taken

Rev P S Knight of Salem Oregon gave a lecture on The Great Northwest in the [illegible] church course last Monday evening No lecture in the course thus far has better pleased the patrons He [illegible] a large map [illegible] of the United States [illegible] He gave three divisions to the United States the dividing lines being the Mississippi river and the Rocky mountains The territory of this country seemed to be thrust upon the people and yet there had been [illegible] going on [illegible] As an illustration [illegible] a century [illegible] and described his journey to the Pacific slope and returning by the Pacific railroad In speaking of [illegible] he called New England the Yankee be [illegible] he tried to [illegible] of the middle and western states but did not succeed Coming to [illegible] he had to call to his aid [illegible] New England and with several of the other states to cover up [illegible] Of the climate he gave a very favorable account and the much talked of rainy season did not amount to as much as in many other places while the coldest weather was about twenty degrees above zero Of the products he gave statistics to show that things grow some out there not only trees but he had seen raised from one single grain of wheat six ounces of grain Last year there was shipped many tons of wheat and with sixty millions of acres there is but one million yet cultivated As a place of commercial value he claimed that the Columbia river gives Oregon many advantages Inasmuch as Oregon had the great requisites area production and commercial advantage it is capable of drawing to its shores a large tide of humanity He spoke a favorable word for the building [illegible] the Northern Pacific railroad saying if Oregon could now afford to send her wheat around Cape Horn to Liverpool it would certainly pay to build the road In closing he made an appeal to the people to wake up The great labor question will be solved when the people of the east go to that land of promise when progress can place one hand on the Atlantic and another on the Pacific The seventy millions of people now starving in China will not be slow in hearing of this land and unless the people of New England go there and plant our institutions there will be a Chinese question in the future such as Dennis Kearney never contemplated

HAVING BEEN INFORMED THAT REPRESENTATIVES of the California Powder Co. have been making statements that the Hercules Powder manufactured by that Company is superior in explosive power to the

"GIANT POWDER"

The Giant Powder Co authorise us to contradict such statements and we are ready to show, at our office, to any one interested, the results of experiments made with Giant, Hercules, Vulcan, Vigorite and Safety powders, proving most conclusively to all unprejudiced persons that the

SATURDAY MORNING DEC 6 1879

THE CIDER MILL

BY JOHN G WHITTIER

Under the blue New England skies
Flooded with sunshine a valley lies
The mountains clasp it warm and sweet
Like a sunny child to their rocky feet

Three pearly lakes and a hundred streams
Lie in its quiet heart of dreams
[illegible] trees [illegible] shake
And [illegible] lies [illegible]

I love it better than love can tell
Its every rock and grove and dell
But most I love the gorge where the rill
Comes down by the old brown cider mill

Above the clear springs gurgle out
And the upper meadows wind about
Then join and wander [illegible] grow
Round [illegible] where the blue beech [illegible] stocks

Then rests in a shaded pool that keeps
The oak trees clasped in its crystal deeps
Slides twenty feet the water falls
Down from the old dam's broken walls

Spatters the knobby bowlders gray
And laughing hides from the shade away
Under great rocks thro trout pool still
With many a tumble down to the mill

All the way down the nut trees grow
And [illegible] rocks hide above and below
Acorns beechnuts chestnuts there
Drop all the fall thro the hazy air

And burrs roll down with curled up leaves
In the mellow light of the harvest eves
Forever there the still old trees
Drink a wine of peace that hath no lees

By the roadside stands the cider mill
Where a lowland summer waits the rill
A great brown building two stories high
On the western hill face warm and dry

And odorous piles of apples there
Fill with incense the golden air
And heaps of pumice mixed with straw
To their amber sweets the late flies draw

The carts back up to the upper door
And spill their treasures in on the floor
Down thro the toothed wheels they go
To the wide deep cider press below

And the screws are turned by slow degrees
Down on the straw laid cider cheese
And with each turn a fuller stream
Bursts from beneath the groaning beam

An amber stream that gods might sip
And fear no morrow's parched lip
But wherefore gods? Those ideal toys
Were soulless to New real England boys.

What classic goblet ever felt
Such thrilling touches thro it melt
As throb electric along a straw
When boyish lips the cider draw?

The years are heavy with weary sounds
And their discord life's sweet music drowns
But yet I hear oh sweet oh sweet
The rill that bathed my bare brown feet

And yet the cider drips and falls
On my inward ear at intervals
And I lead at times a sad sweet dream
To the babbling of that little stream

And I sit in visioned autumn still
In the sunny doors of the cider mill

PHILLIP'S FORTUNE

I shall never forget the uncomfortable position that I found myself in through too free a use of that unruly member, the tongue I was a young fellow then, clerk in a London bank My father was an officer in the army, and he often told us boys that setting each of us up in some business or profession was all he could ever do for us, for the scanty pittance he would leave behind him must belong solely to my mother and sister. But my brother and I were energetic and hopeful. So long as each day brought us enough to satisfy our daily wants, we recked little of the future

One bleak cold January morning I was greatly surprised on my arrival at the bank to find my father pacing up and down before the building I was not living at home just then, and his presence there made me fear lest something was wrong

"Phillip," he began 'are you in time? Can you spare me three minutes?"

"Yes, sir," I replied, for a wonder, I see I am ten minutes earlier than I need be. What is the matter?"

"Do not look so startled,' he said, 'nothing is wrong You know Mr Fosberry?"

Oh, you mean the half cracked old man who is awfully rich and is my god-father, as well as cousin thirty times removed? I asked

'Yes," was the reply "Well last night I received a letter from him, in which he asks after you" And he read me the letter

"What a queer old boy!" I exclaimed "What does he mean?" for I did not exactly understand him

"Mean!" cried my father, excitedly snatching the letter from me, and crushing it in his pocket "Mean!'—why to make you his heir, Philip—his heir!'

"Whew!" said I, blushing, "that's a good idea."

"You must apply for leave to go off at once,' said my father, "Strike while the iron's hot. It's a splendid chance, Philip—splendid! Use it well, and your fortune is made"

So I thought, applied for leave, and set off for the Paddington station soon after, with my ears ringing with a legion of instructions for pleasing old men, given me by my fellow clerks. The only one I could clearly remember was the one to rise whenever he came into the room and then eschew every comfortable arm-chair for fear he should want it. I felt bursting with importance, and actually treated myself to a glass of hot whisky and water at the refreshment room.

"Hello, William!" suddenly cried a voice

"Why, Jack, what brings you here?' I replied, recognizing a friend, John Evans

"I am going down to Gloucester," said he. 'Where are you off to?

"Oh, no such luck!" I cried. 'I am off beyond Hereford to humor an old gentleman'

"What?" said Jack.

"Come along, and I'll tell you all about it," said I. "Second class? Yes, all right Here we are."

After we were settled in our places an old man got in He was poorly dressed, and wore a green shade over one eye, while the other looked weak and drooping We grunted our disapproval at his entrance, and made mutual grimaces, but as his blind eye was toward us they were lost on him As the train moved off I told Jack my story, which you know already.

"Well done, Philip! Your bread is buttered for you," he exclaimed when he had heard me to the end, "What a glorious chance! Man alive, I wish I were in your shoes, that's all"

"Yes, yes my boy. All right' I exclaimed "Well, its a shame if I don't secure a good smoke now before the light of my pipe goes out in obscurity Do you object to smoke sir?

This latter question was addressed to the old gentleman in the corner who appeared a curious mass of old coats railway rugs and newspapers

"I do object very much," was the gruffly spoken reply

'Very sorry sir," said I 'I'll keep my head out of the window, then"

Shame seizes me when I recall this incident. In lieu of attending to the old man's wishes I coolly lit my pipe, and though I knew the wind would blow the smoke right into his eyes—though I heard him growling with rage—I puffed on heedlessly I should be sorry to be so rude now, but you see I was young and excited.

The short January afternoon was drawing to a close, and very soon afterward we were dependent for light from the lamp that hung from the center of the carriage roof.

Whether it was the old man's example, who had gone to sleep, or the monotonous noise of the train as it sped along, or that our power of chatting was exhausted, I know not but anyhow we too began to feel inclined for a nap But we found the lamp an intolerable nuisance with its incessantly flickering light

Bother it Can't we blow it out I exclaimed

Not if we cracked our cheeks But I've a notion cried ever ready witted Jack Hand me the old boy's hat

'Whatever f[illegible] as I handed him the article in question It was worn and rusty, but well brushed and well soaped

To make an extinguisher' replied Jack and so saying he fitted it on the lamp making the globe [illegible] that bald head of the owner of the hat [illegible] it fitted to a nicety and so tightly as to keep well in its place The arrangement answered splendidly and not a glimmer of light was to be seen

When the train stopped at Swindon we awoke and rushed out of the carriage to get refreshments quite forgetting our fellow passenger and his hat On returning we found they had both flown The train started and when we arrived at Gloucester Jack left me I had a cold lonely journey to my destination a little station just below Hereford When I arrived it was 9 o'clock a dark raw night I was very sleepy and tired For some moments I could not find my portmanteau then my hat was missing and while I was searching the guard was exclaiming against the delay of the train At last it was all found the guard whistled the train moved off and I was standing on a little country platform in a strange place

'Any cabs or flies to be got here?' I asked the station master

'Dear me, no sir' was the reply 'But we can get you something down in town Where is it to sir

I want to go to Mr Fosberry's of Castle Hall I replied

I paced the wretched little station till the vehicle came with my mind full of the coming meeting I asked the driver how far we had to go

How ar [illegible] said he Oh about four miles

I got in and we bowled along in the dark narrow lanes After half an hour's drive we entered the handsome gates [illegible] [illegible] what [illegible] to me [illegible] [illegible] very extensive park [illegible] spect impressed me w[illegible] [illegible] subject

I [illegible] [illegible] Mr [illegible] very rich [illegible] he has £200 000 to leave if he's a penny [illegible] [illegible] property

My driver jumped down and pulled the bell The peal resounded loudly through the house like the peal of a trumpet A footman in livery [illegible] the door [illegible] I was admitted into a hall glowing with light and warmth and then shown into a large brilliantly lighted drawing room

A moment later and the tall footman reappeared He apologized for his master's non appearance and requested me to obey the instructions of a note which he handed me from a massive silver salver

I tore it open and read

MR PHILIP FOSBERRY WILLIAMS—The next time you travel by rail do not smoke nor annoy old gentlemen do not make the infirmities of age and seeming poverty your laughing stock do not tell your friends of your great expectations do not speak of your crack brained relatives do not make extinguishers of old gentlemen's hats and do not be so angry vulgar and insulting to strangers do not nourish vain hopes of inheriting me and finally do not lose any time in leaving forever the house of your [illegible] works of a fellow traveler

PHILIP FOSBERRY

P S—I inclose a £20 note to pay expenses

* * * * *

How I got out of the house—how I got back to the station and spent the night in a wretched inn—how I returned to town and told my enraged relations my woeful tale wherein I played such a sorry part—how my abject letter of apology was returned unread—I cannot tell I only know old Fosberry died worth £200 000 leaving his niece sole heiress and that I quarreled with Jack Evans about it nor have I ever spoken to him since.

KING OF THE BLOOD

THE MOST THOROUGH PURIFIER OF THE BLOOD YET DISCOVERED

Cures all Humors, from a Common Eruption to the Worst Scrofula.

It purifies the Blood.
It invigorates the Liver.
It regulates the Bowels.
It strengthens the Stomach.

It gives vivacity in place of lassitude cheerfulness in place of gloom, and robust vigor in place of debility

Dyspepsia Biliousness Disordered Liver Constipation Nervous Affections General Debility in short all the numerous diseases and discomforts caused by impure blood are speedily conquered by this powerful corrector, the chief and sovereign of all ancient or modern medical discoveries—KING OF THE BLOOD

ITS NAME IS ITS BEST DESCRIPTION, as it is a royal dispenser of the blessings of health, and vanquishes the foe that lurk in the blood

It banishes PIMPLES, SALT RHEUM, SCALY ERUPTIONS, ULCERS, SCALD HEAD, FEVER SORES and all SCROFULOUS DISORDERS.

It checks CONSUMPTION in its early stages. It has frequently cured it when advanced

It disperses TUMORS and CANCERS without the Surgeon's knife

It cures DROPSY, general or partial

It cures FEMALE WEAKNESS and DISEASE.

It reduces in a safe and effectual manner all swellings, external or internal

It eradicates the effects of Mineral Poisons, and establishes a sound constitution

Many certificates much further information and full directions for using will be found in the pamphlet 'Treatise on Diseases of the Blood' in which each bottle is enclosed

Price $1 per bottle containing 12 ounces, or 40 to 50 doses Sold by Dealers in medicine
